

participant-driven
collaborative
free event

product management is user-driven so we kinda
thought our conference
should be too.

ProductCamp is not your typical conference. (Actually, we call it an unconference.) It's a free, one-day, participant-driven, event that brings the entire Pittsburgh product community together.

september 22, 2018

8 a.m. | tepper quad, cmu
5000 Forbes Ave, Pittsburgh, PA 15213

why attend?

ProductCamp is where you can learn the latest buzz on product management. It's also a great way to learn and connect with peers outside your company.

who comes?

ProductCamp Pgh is for anyone who wants to learn about product management, develop their craft, learn from each other, and network in meaningful ways: Product Managers, Product Developers, Product Planners, Project Managers, Consultants, Engineers, Entrepreneurs, Marketing & Sales Professionals, UX Designers, Business Analysts, & Students.

how does it work?

Session ideas and topics are submitted by the participants prior to the event & on the morning of the event beginning at 8 a.m. A final agenda is voted on and then created in real-time, by and for the attendees. Anyone can propose a session idea in any kind of format. See our website for more info and to submit your session idea early.

hosted by:

Carnegie Mellon University

pghpcamp.com
@pghpcamp

